fast food chains ranked by the quality of their (iced) coffee:
please write to me about this, i'm dying. Alice and i have also never tried the coffee at wendy's, del taco, el pollo loco, etc, so we need the deets.

mcdonalds: supreme. cheap, customizable. my preference is a ratio of 2:2 for sugar and cream, as i detest too much sugar, but the default is 6:6. keep that in mind.

carl's jr.: "vanilla" cold brew, purportedly available in just plain, which i prefer. i don't like pre-mixed flavor.

burger king: tiny serving and only "vanilla" or "mocha". again, i don't like pre-mixed flavor.

jack in the box: horrific. no options to customize, and it's aggressively sweet.

taco bell: hot coffee poured over ice. dude. this may sound better than premix, but i cannot emphasize how much this is not worth your money.

SOOTHING APPS

golden thread - a daily tarot pull and mood tracker. also features spreads on demand which can be done digitally or manually with your own deck.

viridi - pick a pot, put plants in that pot. water those plants. check the store for free seeds. also, the most soothing soundtrack ever.

pinout - neon pinball runner ft. nice soundtrack. one-time purchase enables use of checkpoints.

hole.io - you're a hole, and you eat things, including other holes, until you get big and strong.

co-star - we are constantly complaining about co-star because we love co-star. daily affirmations and reminders, plus the ability to read your chart and compare/contrast with your friends.

photoshop mix - a lot of our instagram content is made on psmx.
we're super obsessed, can't live without.
